University Hospitals Bedford Medical Center Receives Chest Pain Center Accreditation

UH Bedford Medical Center recently received full Cycle III accreditation status from the Accreditation Review Committee on May 19, 2010 as a center of excellence. The accreditation will last three years until May of 2013. Less than 12 percent of hospitals nationwide and only 3 percent of hospitals under 100 beds have this accreditation.

The accreditation signifies that the Chest Pain Center at University Hospitals Bedford Medical Center has demonstrated its expertise and commitment to quality patient care by meeting or exceeding a wide set of stringent criteria and completing on-site evaluations by a review team from the Society of Chest Pain Centers. Key areas in which a Chest Pain Center must demonstrate expertise include:

- Integrating the emergency department with the local emergency medical system
- Assessing, diagnosing, and treating patients quickly
- Effectively treating patients with low risk for acute coronary syndrome and no assignable cause for their symptoms
- Continually seeking to improve processes and procedures
- Ensuring Chest Pain Center personnel competency and training
- Maintaining organizational structure and commitment
- Having a functional design that promotes optimal patient care
- Supporting community outreach programs that educate the public to seek medical care if they display symptoms of a possible heart attack

Heart attacks are the leading cause of death in the United States, with 600,000 dying annually of heart disease. More than five million Americans visit hospitals each year with chest pain. The goal of the Society of Chest Pain Centers is to significantly reduce the mortality rate of these patients by teaching the public to recognize and react to the early symptoms of a possible heart attack, reduce the time that it takes to receive treatment, and increase the accuracy and effectiveness of treatment.

“Our success and this accreditation is the result of the dedication of many who play a vital role in patient care in both our internal emergency department staff as well as the collaboration with local emergency system teams,” said UH Bedford Medical Center’s President Sean McKibben. “We are pleased to continue to provide the best patient care available for our community residents.”

The Chest Pain Center’s protocol driven and systematic approach to patient management allows physicians to reduce time to treatment during the critical early stages of a heart attack, when treatments are most effective, and to better monitor patients when it is not clear whether they are having a coronary event. Such observation helps ensure that a patient is neither sent home too early nor needlessly admitted.

Ask The Dentist

Question: What is the difference between plaque and tartar?

Answer: OK...grab your morning coffee and take two slurps of coffee, because here comes the answer. This is how it works; plaque is the bad stuff that causes all evil in Dentistry. It causes tooth decay, abscesses, gum disease and bad breath, etc. Plaque is that white slimy starchy film that gets all over your teeth, if you go on a three day trip and forget your toothbrush, (have you ever done that)? Plaque is composed of billions of germs and bacteria. We all have billions of bacteria in our mouths. Some are good, harmless bacteria, but many are not. The bottom line is high bacteria causes high dental disease. If you feed the bacteria with a bunch of sugar, you will have and even higher degree of dental disease. Plaque can even form everyday if you eat nothing. Bacteria form it by merely eating sluffed dead cells on cheeks and your tongue. Plaque will form every day.

Now for the good news. You can remove plaque yourself. Get a new toothbrush and brush your teeth. Forget the toothpaste for a while and learn now to brush your teeth. It is the brush that cleans the teeth and not the paste. Toothpaste tastes good, feels good, but it doesn't clean your teeth. The physical rubbing of the brush or floss actually removes plaque. After you finish brushing, check your teeth with your tongue to see if any plaque is left. You will be amazed how much you can feel if you don't have paste & bubbles in your mouth. But you say that the brush doesn't get into those nooks and crannies very well. Very true, and that is where that stuff called floss is supposed to be used. Over 40% of the surface of the teeth is in accessible to a toothbrush, so get to work with your floss. Don't be swamped thinking about flossing is you're not a bad brusher. Learn to remove all plaque possible with your brush before taking on the floss, which is harder to use.

Now the rest of the story. Try as you may, not many patients are all that perfect at removing plaque. Plaque that remains behind undisturbed by a brush or floss for 100 days or even less, will actually plaster or harden onto the teeth. Hardened plaque is what is what we term tartar or calculus. That is NOT something you can remove by yourself. We recommend that you see your hygienist twice a year to remove the small bits of tartar that have been missed. For those who have gum disease, because of their mouth bacteria, 3 or 4 months cleanings may be needed to manage tartar accumulation. The dentist or hygienist will help you get better at your homecare at every visit. They'll be a coach to help you keep plaque damage to a minimum.

Keep Smiling!

South Pointe Hospital, a Cleveland Clinic hospital, has partnered with Warrensville Heights Councilwoman Deborah Hill to host the second annual Neighbors Helping Neighbors community project.

Neighbors Helping Neighbors is a community service project aimed at improving the aesthetics of the Warrensville Heights community, while also providing an opportunity for South Pointe employees to extend their care and service through volunteering.

On Tuesday, June 8, from 7:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m., South Pointe Hospital volunteers will complete light maintenance – such as grass cutting, painting and other minor home exterior repairs – to at least five homes in the Eastwood neighborhood. South Pointe teamed up with the Eastwood Homeowners Association and the homeowners themselves to identify potential projects. A BBQ luncheon will follow at Eastwood Park for all neighbors and volunteers.

South Pointe employees support their community through volunteer work, participating in a variety of community efforts, from food drives, to homeless shelters, to fund-raising events for medical research, to environmental projects that enhance parks and other public spaces. South Pointe has served Warrensville Heights and the surrounding communities for over 50 years. Building and maintaining our local relationships are one way we're giving back to the people we serve.
